Table of Contents

1. Welcome!!
2. What if Jayfeather Was Never Blind?
3. What If Tallstar Stayed With Jake Insead Of Going Back To WindClan?
4. What If Squirrelflight Was Mates With Ashfur?
5. What If Smudge Joined ThunderClan Instead Of Firestar?
6. What if Tree never joined the Clans?
7. What if Firestar became a medicine cat instead?

Welcome!!

Ever wonder what it would be like if Firestar never came to ThunderClan? And what if Spottedleaf never became a medicine cat?

All those questions will be answered in this book!!!

What if Jayfeather Was Never Blind?

This was requested by Grace_Murosaki

So what if Jayfeather could see? He probably wouldn't be a medicine cat, and he would stay under Brightheart's training and become a warrior.

He probably would saved Flametail from the water, and wouldn't have a fear of water.

He might've trained a few apprentices. Maybe Alderheart. He might've helped him become a better warrior, and he wouldn't be a medicine cat either.

Maybe Jayfeather would become deputy, instead of Brambleclaw. He might've become leader after Firestar. He'd be called Jaystar.

Maybe he'd still like that stick...

What If Tallstar Stayed With Jake Insead Of Going Back To WindClan?

Requested by IceeGlace

If Tallstar stayed with Jake, he probably would've moved into Jake's house as a kittypet. He wouldn't have become leader, and would still be called Talltail.

Jake may not have become mates with Quince or Nutmeg, so Firestar or Scourge wouldn't have been born. Which means Tigerstar would have taken over ThunderClan and possibly the whole forest.

Shrewclaw might have survived the ShadowClan fight, so he might've become leader of WindClan. He would've probably chosen his mate, Ryestalk, as deputy. So Ryestalk would most likely be leader by this time. When she died, anyone could've been made leader. Maybe one of her kits, Mudclaw or Tornear. Mudclaw wouldn't have been killed by that tree since he wasn't fighting with Onestar for leadership.

Tigerstar probably would've lost his last life now, and he would've made Darkstripe the deputy. Or maybe Longtail or Dustpelt. So one of them would be leader now.

Cloudtail, Squirrelflight, Leafpool, Alderheart or Sparkpelt or any of their kits wouldn't be alive, since Firestar wasn't born. So the Three wouldn't be alive, and the Dark Forest might have won the Great Battle, if the Great Battle actually occurred.

Sandstorm would've mated with Dustpelt. I don't know who Ferncloud would've mated with.

WindClan would probably be more hostile, since Tallstar was the one that usually kept the peace between WindClan and the other Clans. Shrewclaw wasn't the nicest cat, so he would probably have been like Mudclaw, starting fights with every Clan.

Now, in ThunderClan, Yellowfang wouldn't have come to ThunderClan, since it was Firestar who brought her there. Spottedleaf would've died, and ThunderClan wouldn't have had a medicine cat. Yellowfang probably would've died of starvation, since Firestar wasn't there to find her. And if she was found, it could've easily been Tigerstar, who'd have killed her on the spot.

Cinderpelt would've still injured her leg. She would've still become a medicine cat. She would've been trained by one of the other Clan's medicine cats. Probably by Mudfur or Barkface.

Greystripe would've still mated with Silverstream, and she would've still died. Greystripe would've gone to RiverClan, but he probably wouldn't return, since Firestar was the one who persuaded him to come back.

Ravenpaw would've been killed by Tigerstar. Firestar wouldn't be there to being him to live in Barley's barn.

Barley might not have been born, since BloodClan wouldn't exist without Scourge. If Barley was born, he wouldn't live on the barn. He'd probably be a rogue.

When they went to the lake territory, it was Firestar who led them. And Squirrelflight went to the sun-drown place. They wouldn't exist. Brambeclaw would've still gone there. Maybe Brambeclaw would be evil like his father, since Tigerstar would be leader of ThunderClan. Tawnypelt might've stayed there, too.

Since the Three wouldn't be born, Cinderpelt would have to find a new medicine cat apprentice instead of Jayfeather. Maybe Brightheart, since she wouldn't mate with Cloudtail since he wouldn't exist. Brightheart wouldn't have lost half her face, since Tigerstar would've killed Bluestar earlier on. Swiftpaw would still be living.

Ashfur wouldn't be evil, since he wouldn't have any reason to be evil. Squirrelflight and the Three wouldn't be born.

Sasha might have not mated with Tigerstar, since he wouldn't be hanging around ShadowClan. Hawkfrost or Mothwing wouldn't exist. But maybe Willowshine would still become a medicine cat, if Mudfur lived long enough to train her.

If he didn't, then I don't know. Willowshine would have to be trained by another medicine cat, like Cinderpelt.

The Clans might have not made it to the lake without Firestar. They might have simply all died. Maybe Tigerstar led them there.

The Dark Forest wouldn't have grown so strong without Tigerstar. So Omen of the Stars wouldn't have happened. Dovewing and Ivypool wouldn't be born anyway, since Whitewing is related to Cloudtail.

Twigbranch and Violetshine would've probably just died as kits. Alderheart wouldn't be there to find them.

SkyClan wouldn't exist, without Firestar to go with Sandstorm to rebuild it. So Darktail wouldn't have killed Sharpclaw.

Sharpclaw would still be a rogue, as would Leafstar, Patchfoot, Clovertail, and most of the SkyClan cats. Rainfur wouldn't have died, and Petalnose would still be trapped with her Twoleg. Sparrowpelt and Cherrytail would still be kittypets, too.

I can't think of anything else, but basically, if Tallstar had stayed with Jake instead of going back to WindClan, all the Clans would pretty much be doomed.

So Tallstar is actually a pretty important cat!

What If Squirrelflight Was Mates With Ashfur?

Requested by Doggylover43

If Squirrelflight was mates with Ashfur instead of Brambleclaw, Alderheart and Sparkpelt would've never been born. Which means the events of A Vision of Shadows wouldn't have happened. SkyClan might've not joined the other Clans, and Twigbranch and Violetshine would be still with Pebbleshine and Hawkwing.

Which leads to Rootpaw not being born.

Another thing that would not happen is the fire scene. Along with Hollyleaf killing Ashfur, and then running into the tunnels. She might've still died in The Last Hope though.

Brambleclaw might feel betrayed though. In Sunset, he might've killed Firestar along with Hawkfrost. Meaning Hawkfrost would be alive and also would now be leader instead of Mistystar.

And in Leafpool's Wish, Squirrelflight might've not helped Leafpool when she was expecting Crowfeather's kits. She only helped her since Yellowfanf told her she couldn't have kits, but she might've had Ashfur's kits at this point. So Leafpool would've been exiled, unless she found another cat to help her.

In the event of her exile, Hollyleaf, Jayfeather and Lionblaze would go with her, and so Power of Three wouldn't take place. Or Omen of the Stars. The Dark Forest would've won without the Three.

But if she didn't get exiled, Power of Three/Omen of the Stars would carry on as normal, except with Ashfur being mates with Squirrelflight.

Now let's go back to Brambleclaw. If he killed Firestar, he would be leader. And he would still be training in the Dark Forest. He'd be like what Ashfur really is.

He could pick any number of cats to be deputy. And since Firestar died in the Last Hope, he'd most likely die there instead. So what cat would be leader after him?

Obviously not Squirrelflight and Ashfur.

But now that I'm thinking about it, I think it could be Ivypool. She did train with Hawkfrost in the Dark Forest, so it would make sense since him and Brambleclaw killed Firestar together.

I have no idea who could've been deputy before Ivypool though. Spiderleg maybe? If I remember correctly, he didn't like kittypets, and Firestar was a kittypet, so Brambleclaw would pick a cat that didn't like Firestar.

Dustpelt would also be an obvious choice.

So, I think that's everything that would change. Basically Squirrelflight could've destroyed almost everything if she'd went with Ashfur. But then, nice things would happen too. Ashfur wouldn't be evil, and wouldn't have tried to kill Leafpool's kits.

What If Smudge Joined ThunderClan Instead Of Firestar?

Well first of all, the Clans would be screwed.

Rusty would always be Rusty, and would never know Clan life. Cloudtail wouldn't join ThunderClan either, since Firestar wouldn't be there to take him from Princess.

In Firestar's Quest, Smudge has dreams about SkyClan. But if he was in ThunderClan, most likely another kittypet would dream about them instead.

Ok let's get into Into The Wild. Smudge would be the one to meet Greypaw, Bluestar and Lionheart instead of Rusty. And Rusty would probably try and stop him from going with them, since that's what Smudge did to Rusty in the original timeline.

Smudge would go with the cats into ThunderClan. He'd probably become Greypaw's best friend.

Now I like to think that Smudge is more soft than most kittypets. So I think it'll take him a while to adjust to Clan life. So I think that Sandpaw and Dustpaw would bully him more than they bullied Firepaw.

So I think they'll never be friends with Smudge. But Greypaw and Ravenpaw will.

I don't think Smudge would become a warrior in Into The Wild. I think it'd take him a while to complete his training, as he hasn't got the knack that Firestar had. But I think he would just about drive out Brokenstar and his rogues, with some help with the rest of the Clan, but it'd be harder for him than when Firepaw did it.

I also think he'd be kinder to Yellowfanf when he finds her. Since it was early into his training and he wouldn't have got used to the warrior code yet. He would've taken her to ThunderClan just as Firepaw had, but he wouldn't fight her first.

Also I don't think he'd have any suspicion about Tigerclaw until he tries to kill Bluestar. Smudge does seem a bit clueless to me.

Also for that reason, he wouldn't take Ravenpaw to the barn. Meaning Ravenpaw would be killed by Tigerclaw.

In Fire and Ice, I think that after he and Greystripe being WindClan back, he'd become a warrior. But I don't think he'd ready to take on an apprentice. Greystripe would still train Brackenpaw, but I think a cat like Mousefur would train Cinderpaw.

Speaking of Cinderpaw, she wouldn't injure her leg as that was Fireheart's idea for her to go to the Thunderpath. Instead, Bluestar would go, and probably injure her leg instead.

And because Smudge wouldn't have an apprentice to bring near the river, Greystripe would never meet Silverstream, who would never die.

Now onto Forest of Secrets. Tigerclaw would try to kill Bluestar, and Smudge would then see that Tigerclaw is evil. Since he didn't have an apprentice, he wouldn't be deputy. Whitestorm would be the next obvious choice.

Rising Storm. Smudge would probably save Yellowfang from the fire instead of Bramblekit, since he probably couldn't trust him after what Tigerclaw did. I don't know what would happen to Patchpelt and Halftail. They might still die.

In Dangerous Path, nothing changes. Swiftpaw and Brindleface still die, along with Runningwind, Whitethroat, and Bluestar too. Whitestorm would become leader, leading to the fact that we wouldn't die in Darkest Hour. He'd just lose a life.

I'm gonna guess that Whitestorm picked Brackenfur for his deputy, since he nearly was picked deputy once anyway.

SkyClan would remain lost, since no obvious cat could go and find them. Unless Whitestorm did it.

New Prophecy: Leafpool and Squirrelflight wouldn't exist. So their kits wouldn't exist. Or their kits' kits. And since Brambleclaw died in the fire due to Smudge not saving him, I have no idea who would go on the Great Journey to the sun-drown place. In terms of Hawkfrost trying to kill Firestar (who is a kittypet) he'd probably try and kill Whitestorm.

In Power of Three the Three don't exist so nothing really happens. Same with Omen of the Stars, other than the Dark Forest winning. Whitestorm will die and then Brackenfur will be leader!!

Vision of Shadows, SkyClan don't exist. And if they do, they won't join the other Clans. Or get separated.

So basically if Smudge did join, he'd be a background character, much like another Brackenfur.

Also fire would not save the Clans, since said fire would be at home snacking on some cat food in a bowl!

What if Tree never joined the Clans?

Requested by beetlemaniac

Soooo I haven't read A Vision Of Shadows or The Broken Code yet so I don't really know much about Tree. So I had to do quite a lot of research for this.

Ok. So if Tree never joined the Clans, SkyClan wouldn't have him as a mediator. He would've never become mates with Violetshine and Rootpaw and Needlepaw would've never have been born. Which leads to the fact that no cat would find out that Bramblestar was possessed. So whatever the impostor is planning to do, they'll most likely succeed at it.

Also, Bristlefrost would never meet Rootpaw and he would never fall in love with her. This doesn't change much as of now but maybe later it might. Well, apart from the fact that Bristlefrost wouldn't find out that Bramblestar is possessed.

Since we don't know much about the impostor, although I'm pretty sure it's most likely to be Ashfur, I can't really think of much else to write. Maybe I'll do a part 2 of this later when more books in The Broken Code are out :))

But for now, that's all I've got.

What if Firestar became a medicine cat instead?

Requested by Bluemycool20

So I've been thinking about this one a lot, and though it might seem like it wouldnt change much, it actually would. So let's take this book by book, shall we?

Into The Wild

Let's start with the obvious one. Instead of being apprenticed to Bluestar, Lionheart and Tigerclaw, Firepaw would be Spottedleaf's apprentice. They'd get to spend more time with each other and form a better bond with each other, though I don't think they'd become mates.

Retail would still die, of course.

Greypaw may still have become friends with Firepaw. He would've still found him near Twolegplace, and they would still hung out a lot, though I don't think they would've become best friends, as Greypaw would be out training a lot, while Firepaw would be in the medicine den. They'd hardly get to see each other.

There is a chance Firepaw would never find Yellowfang wandering around ThunderClan's territory, as he wouldn't be hunting or whatever he was doing. If he did find her, it would be when he was searching for herbs or something, and Spottedleaf would most likely be with him at the time, supervising him. So he wouldn't attack Yellowfang if he found her. As well as that, Spottedleaf would most likely recognize her, as all the medicine cats know each other. She'd probably simply send her back to ShadowClan to suffer Brokenstar's wrath. If she didn't send her back and let her come into the ThunderClan camp as Firepaw let her do, she would either simply become a medicine cat in the Clan as she does in the original timeline, or retire to the elder's den. Either way I don't think she would form the bond she did with Firepaw like she did originally. If anything, she'd form that bond with Spottedleaf.

Firepaw wouldn't go to the Moonstone like he did with Greypaw and Ravenpaw. He'd go some other time with Spottedleaf. Bluestar would still lose a life to the rats in that field, though.

Lionheart and Rosetail would die as usual. Firepaw had nothing to do with them dying. Brokenstar would've attacked either way.

Speaking of Spottedleaf, she died because there was no cat there to protect her. But if Firepaw was there, he might've been able to hold back Clawface until some other cats came.

Ravenpaw would die. I mean, there is a chance Greypaw helped him escape Tigerclaw, but it's a small chance. If he did escape, he'd go to Barley's farm, but I really doubt he would. Firepaw wouldn't overhear him telling those cats at the Gathering about how Redtail died so Tigerclaw wouldn't be discovered until a bit later.

Yellowfamg would find the kits that Brokenstar stole on her own. Or maybe Whitestorm and the rest of that patrol. Either way, they'd be found.

Greypaw wouldn't become a warrior until Sandpaw and Dustpaw did too. Firepaw was the one that did everything to make the two of them warriors.

Fire and Ice

Firepaw would probably become a full medicine cat about halfway through this book. I don't know why, I just feel like that's long enough for him to learn everything.

Greypaw (still Greypaw at this point, remember?) wouldn't go on that journey to bring back WindClan with Firepaw. I think some senior warriors would go. Whitestorm, maybe. And... Darkstripe? Idk. Maybe even Tigerclaw. Anyway, they'll come back as usual, the only difference being that Onewhisker wouldn't become friends with Firepaw having never met him.

That RiverClan fight would never happen. Whiteclaw wouldn't die.

Cinderpaw wouldn't be apprenticed to Firepaw. She could be given to anyone. I think Longtail if I had to guess who. Brackenfur, again, wouldn't be given to Greypaw. Mousefur is my guess for him.

Those two RiverClan kits that Greystripe and Fireheart saved would drown. There would be no one to save them :((

Likewise, they also wouldn't be there to give RiverClan some of their prey. Well, Greypaw might do it but idk Greypaw might never meet Silverstrean as they wouldn't be out training apprentices. She wouldn't die, and Feathertail and Stormfur would never be born, neither would Stormfur's kits.

Cinderpaw might never get injured. It was Fireheart who told her to go to the Thunderpath. So Bluestar would go and possibly lose a life or something. And find out that Tigerclaw is evil early. She'd exile him and make Whitestorm deputy. It's pretty obvious she'd pick him.

Since Fireheart (yep he'll be a full medicine cat by now) probably wouldn't get a chance to meet with Princess, Cloudtail would never join the Clans, mate with Brightheart, and never have any of their kits. White wing wouldn't be born, which leads to Dovewing and Ivypool also never being born, at least not to Whitewing and Birchfall, anyway.

That battle with WindClan and ShadowClan would happen, but I don't think ThunderClan would be involved. WindClan would most likely lose, and cats would die.

Sandstorm, Dustpelt, and Greystripe would all become warriors at this time, for no reason other than that they've been apprentices for too long.

Forest of Secrets

It could still happen, but there is a smaller chance that anyone would find out that Mistyfoot and Stonefur would be discovered to be Bluestar's kits. So Stonefur wouldn't die for being half-Clan. He'd end up becoming leader of RiverClan.

Sandstorm wouldn't mate with Firestar. She'd go with Dustpelt. None of Ferncloud and Dustpelt's kits would be born, or Squirrelflight and Leafpool. None of their kits would be born either.

Tigerclaw would already be exiled at this time.

Brokenstar would still die, but I don't think Yellowfang would tell anyone that he was her son.

Rising Storm

Cloudtail wouldn't be there to do anything he does in this book.

Cinderpelt would be a warrior, and wouldn't be there to help Whitethroat and Littlecloud, who would both die of the sickness they had. So Littlecloud wouldn't become a medicine cat.

Runningwind wouldn't die. He only died because he was in a patrol with Fireheart investigating the Thunderpath when Whitethroat died, who is dead already in this timeline. Also Tigerclaw wouldn't go near the Thunderpath either.

Yellowfang would still die in the fire. Maybe along with Spottedleaf, too. Bramblekit would probably die as well because Fireheart wouldn't stop to save him.

Tigerstar would still become leader of ShadowClan.

A Dangerous Path

Nothing major would change here. The only thing that would change is that Whitestorm would become leader after Bluestar died, and Fireheart wouldn't be at the fight with the dogs. Bluestar would still die, though.

She might tell Mistufoot and Stonefur that they are her kits when they tried to save her, so they'll still forgive her. Or maybe they won't be able to save her and she'll simply drown.

The Darkest Hour

Whitestorm is now leader. If I had to guess, he'd maybe make Greystripe or Brackendur his deputy. He wouldn't die in the BloodClan battle, he'd only lose a life. And he'll probably kill Scourge.

Fireheart would be the one to go with him to the Moonstone to receive his nine lives.

Togerstar would still try and merge all the Clans together. TigerClan would still be a thing, but like I said earlier, Stonefur wouldn't die because of it. Featherpaw and Stormpaw won't be there for him to protect, anyway.

Fireheart would still bring the Clans together to fight BloodClan, but as a medicine cat rather than a leader. Whitestorm (now Whitestar) would be the one to lead them all into battle.

And that's all the first arc!!! So since this is super long already, I'll make a part 2 covering the next few arcs, and some super editions/ novellas/manga!!!

Let me know if I forgot anything in this in the comments :)